U. S. GRAND JURY TO TAKE UP SLOCUM FIRE

Coroner Berry Announces that Indictments and Criminal Trials Are Certain to Result from Testimony Revealing Incompetence and Violations of Law.

Boat Discover Decayed and Crumbling Timbers in Vessel's Frame Totals ...... 4 9 26 Work-Samples Taken for Jury.

That indiciments will follow the close of the inquest into the Gen. Slocum disaster has been so far settled by Cofoner Berry and Assistant District-Attorney Garvan that a list of those guilty of what the authorities regard as criminal negligence has already been made out and will be added to as the inquest develops.

It is impossible at this time to print the names of those who are to be tried in the criminal courts for their part in the miserable equipment of the steamer and the general incomptency of her crew, but Coroner Berry, in refusing to give them to-day, said that the names must be obvious to

"There certainly will be criminal prosecutions," said Coroner Berry to an Evening World reporter to-day. "How could we escape them in view of the evidence that has been taken at the inquest?"

"Will there be one or more indictments?" was asked. "There will be many of them. Of that you can rest assured," replied "We have brought out sufficient evidence to secure indictments right now without going any further, but our plan is to finish the inquest before entering on the other side of the matter at all. Mr. Garvan thinks we can finish on Monday, but I think it will be Tuesday before we game with the Phillies. They scored two runs, and the game ended with the through. There is still much to be inquired into, and I do not want to leave a stone unturned in this inquiry.

'After Tuesday no time will be lost in going before the Grand Jury with these cases, and the trials of the men indicted will follow in short order. There will be no complaint of the law's delay in this matter."

Coroner Berry, District-Attorney Jerome and Assistant District-Attorney Garvan had a conference later in the day at Mr. Jerome's office. They went over all the evidence and decided to wait until the close of the inquest before putting the cases before the Grand Jury, which does not sit again

After their conference, Mr. Jerome, accompanied by Coroner Berry, went to the office of United States District-Attorney Burnett, in the Federal Building, where there was another extended conference.

The District-Attorney and Coroner offered to furnish all the evidence in their possession, and as a result Gen. Burnett ordered the assembling of

When Driving Through "Little Began to Sputter When Thomas Italy," Patrolman Nevill Is Viciously Attacked—He and His Daughter Hurt.

Patrolman John Nevill, of the East Twenty-second street station, and his three young children were violently assaulted yesterday afternoon when riding in a light carriage at One Hundred and Tenth street and First avenue, a section out riding. They crossed the orige, where Mrs. Gotshall, wife of the President of the New York and Port Chester Railroad, recently was hit on the head with a stone and seriously injured. The policeman yesterday had to fight for his life and the lives of his children.

He had his right wrist broken, the fingers of both hands badly lacerated and sustained a scalp-wound. One of the children, Jessie, eleven years old, received a scalp-wound.

Nevill had a day off yesterday and took his children for a ride. When the Italian was lashing the heads of the policeman and the others a man came alongside the carriage and with a barrel stave struck Nevills are murderous blow. It was intended for the latter's head, but he ducked and the force of the blow fell on Nevill's wrist. This forced him to release his hold of the boy, who squirmed out of the carriage. The Italian in the wagon disappeared, too, at this point.

Nevill saw he was endangering the life of every member of the party and driving as best he could with one hand. The escape was accompanied by a half of stones and sticks.

Nevill has asked 14. Inspector for permission to obtain warrants for the boy and for others who took part in the assault.
